

Map You-n | Versione 1.0

You can visualize the plugin's configuration page clicking on "Map You-n" only after login.

The configuration page is composed by three parts:

The first part is for basic configuration of the map: width, height, zoom level and the possibility to choose between active or inactive state of the plugin.

The second part consists of an upload form of the images which will be used as markers; you can upload markers one at a time. You can also edit the position of an existing marker by dragging and dropping it.

The third part includes a list of all map markers and allows to change the tooltip's position and text of a selected marker.

There are two ways to show a map in a page:

By using the shortcode [YM-map stato="on"] into the Wordpress text editor.

Or, if you are a theme developer, you can include the PHP code `<?php echo do_shortcode('[YM-Map stato="on"]') ?>`.

It is possible to globally override the plugin on the configuration page or setting in the short code the status "off" ([YM-map stato="off"]) on the single page.

It is impossible to insert other maps in the same page with this plugin.
